FILMMAKER · AUTHOR · CREATIVE DIRECTOR · DIGITAL ARCHITECT

Kobe King is a filmmaker, author, and creative director from San Antonio, Texas, whose work lives at the intersection of faith, identity, discipline, culture, and human transformation.

Through film, photography, writing, design, and creative direction, Kobe builds worlds that feel raw, cinematic, spiritual, and deeply human. His work is less interested in perfect people than honest ones. Less interested in performance than presence.

His first book, 11:12, chronicles the beginning of a radically different life after more than a decade of drinking. His forthcoming project, Prologue: A Brutalist Tale, is a meditation on what happens after the chains come off.
